

Have two free nights on us.....

The English proverb 'Ne'er cast a clout till May be out', seems particularly apt given the unpredictable nature of the United Kingdom's weather at the moment.

Thankfully Classic Collection Holidays has no end of destinations where consistently warm spring sunshine means you can cast easily as many clouts as you like. What's more our 7 nights for the price of 5 offers, highlighted below, mean that you get to discard your winter clothing without losing your shirt.

Wherever you choose to go we look forward to making your arrangements for you. Our knowledgeable reservations staff are on hand to recommend the perfect holiday tailor-made just for you. For further information call us on freephone 0800 008 7299 or visit your local independent travel agent and ask about Classic Collection Holidays.

PS The earliest citation of 'N'er cast a clout till May be out' (never discard your warm winter clothing until the end of the month of May) is the version of the rhyme, Gnornologia(1732) from Dr Thomas Fuller: 'Leave not off a clout till May be out' although it probably existed by word-of-mouth since at least the early 15th century.
